

Communication Skills and Personality Development Programme

On 30/11/2023, a special programme was held by Dr Veena Sharma for BA First Year and Second Year students on Communication Skills and Personality Development. In this, the students learnt various methods of honing communication skills and improving personality by listening to recorded lectures of seasoned experts of the area. Many important personality traits such as good conversation, public speaking, creative thinking, soft skills, assertiveness, confidence and extroversion, which tend to increase the chance of success in career and at work were taught to students in an interactive session with them by her in the end. The students were really benefited through this programme and they learnt appropriate skills, attitudes, behaviours and values required at different occasions, places and times.
